A Hand Book on
Web-Design.NR10.com

www.web-design.nr10.com

TABLE OF CONTENTS

SAN FRANCISCO WEB DEVELOPMENT

A bad website is a deterrent to a website visitor and he leaves the website as soon as he visits the website. The main culprits of a bad website are bad web design, bad navigation and irrelevant content. If you have a website your primary objective is to attract target customers to your site. A website design company provides a professional touch to the website design.

A professional web design company is equipped with the proper tools and relevant experience to design a website that is powerful as well as effective. The company insures that expert professionals do the job so as to provide quality and creativity of the website. It is necessary that the content of the website is written in a manner which attracts the right kind of attention from the target audience. The content should be search engine friendly, without any spelling and grammatical errors. The web content should be able to attract the target audience's attention and convey the message that the website wants to give and be consistent.

#10 is a San Francisco web development company that provides efficient web design services and offer a slick, sweet and user friendly website. The main reason why you should employ a web design company is that it offers a cost effective solution to the client. As a client you get easily accessible website that has high search visibility. The website is visually attractive with relevant content and has all the requisite links to the main content. A good content should answer the visitor's queries about the product or service which the website is advertising.

#10 is the perfect company for development of web in San Francisco as it offers web design and development services to the client. The company offers web design solutions that emanate character and professionalism. As a client your feedback and inputs are taken into account through the whole designing process.

#10 makes sure that your website stands out among the plethora of competitor's websites. The good website attracts quality website traffic and a visitor who stays and explores the site, as they find the site interesting and attractive enough. Web development San Francisco services include a wide variety of promotion and marketing strategies. Long term maintenance and innovation are the two worthwhile qualities of the ecommerce solutions provided by #10.

Visit the site www.web-design.nr10.com to get a search engine optimized and user-friendly navigation website.

SAN FRANCISCO WEB DESIGNER

Web design tools are the tools used to design a website with an interesting layout, attractive visuals, easy navigation and great traffic. The contribution of web designing in the success of a website is enormous. All expert web designers use a wide range of tools for graphics, menus, navigation, and authoring and web development. Web-design.nr10.com is the site that provides web designing services along with other web development and marketing services. These services are used to create a new site and enhance an existing websites.

Many Web design tools are used to create and enhance the websites. Dropdowns make use of CGI script and JavaScript while special effects are created with the help of Flash and Photoshop. Flash also helps to create animations that add interesting element to the websites. The scripting is done with the help of JavaScript and Visual basic while SQL is used for database management along with other database engines.

Web designers also design templates, which are readymade website designs that can be used as per requirement. Web designers use other tools such as Fireworks, Flash buttons, Pixel sight and many other design wizards. San Francisco web designer use these design tools to design effective and creative web designs. The designers have the ability to understand the marketing objectives of the client and have the understanding of marketplace, the target audience and promotional Medias.

Graphic design in San Francisco, therefore are not just the creative works of art designed by San Francisco web designers. The basic purpose of designing a website is to provide information or awareness to the end users. The site therefore should be developed and designed keeping this fact in mind. It should be designed, coded and developed to provide user-friendliness to the website and increase the website's traffic. A good website design requires the proper understanding of website designing tools and techniques and their apt implementation for creating the site.

#10 is a company that provides creative design, web technology and efficient e-business strategy Solutions. The company believes in using a proven methodology that tackles client's specific needs on the basis of thorough assessment and provides fact based solutions. The innovative and creative approach delivers precise and certain results as per the client's targets and budget. Visit the site www.web-design.nr10.com for a beautiful and effective website that helps to increase website traffic.

GRAPHIC DESIGN SAN FRANCISCO

Trends in web design are constantly changing. As screen resolutions increase, bigger font sizes are becoming more popular. Normal icons are being replaced with three-dimensional illustrative logos. Designs are softening, with more rounded corners and pastel colors. Dropdown menus are in much subtler form to avoid visual clutter. Web pages are transparent and focus on user interface and interaction design. Well, your website must adopt these changes to look trendy and attract more visitors. Forget the web pages of yore, and move on to the new, with designs from #10 LLC (Web-Design.nr10.com). We understand your need to project a modern and professional image to your worldwide clientele, which is why we offer you creative and up to date solutions in web and graphic design. We help your website look sleek and smart online!

With a futuristic look and feel, you can attract many more viewers to your website and convert hits into sales. #10 LLC (Graphic Design San Francisco) ensures that your website gets a new look and attracts more visitors. #10 (San Francisco graphic design) uses graphic designs that are illustrative and yet fast to load. This makes your website user friendly and popular.

At #10 (graphic design San Francisco), we use new tools to reach out and retain your worldwide target audience. Our professionals are experienced and have the expertise to design and execute web pages that are in line with your type of business and services. At every stage during the website creation process, you are free to give your input. Our San Francisco graphic design team will advise you on the feasibility and the long-term effect of the implementations that you may recommend. Unlike other design companies who design dismal websites just because 'the client wanted it', we at graphic design San Francisco team consider it our responsibility to study what your needs are and create designs that satisfy you, and at the same time, also educate you on why a certain aspect must be executed in certain way.

It's for you to see why our designs have been highly successful and our clients are growing in numbers. Our graphic design San Francisco team does not settle with an average job like others may. Our work speaks for itself and we spare no efforts in creating websites that help businesses grow. If you want your website to be noticed among the millions out there, get in touch with us. Our San Francisco graphic design team will help you grab eyeballs in scores!

SAN FRANCISCO WEB DEVELOPMENT SERVICES

A good website essentially requires the expertise of a whole team of professionals with varied skills. Only then can the site be visually appealing, technically sound and user friendly. Right from planning stage to implementation and promotion, we at Web-Design.Nr10.Com #10 deliver quality and timely web development services, according to your industry focus. Our experienced team of programmers, graphic designers, content creators, consultants and marketing gurus work in tandem with you, focusing on your needs and target audience. #10 offers web development services especially in San Francisco, San Jose and Oakland.

The Planning and Analysis stages are the most important aspects in web development. A good framework is important as it provides flexibility at a later stage. At #10, we understand the importance of laying the right foundation. Once objectives and target audience are identified, we do the technical construction and information evaluation. In the web design stage, web pages are connected through navigation systems to create a consistent look and feel. HTML tools and templates are used along with graphic designs, photographs, texts, clippings, audio and video. The website is then implemented and tested in various browsers. Once this is done, your website is ready for the world to see!

At #10, our Web Development Graphic Design Company don't just end with the creation of your website. We promote your web site with target audiences and ensure that it is high in the search engine searches. Web marketing is built into the site design to make it search engine friendly. We also conduct rich-media, viral marketing campaigns that include tools designed for getting your company's brand noticed on the web. Pay-Per-Click Search Engine Promotion, Loyalty Programs, Email Campaigns and Online Games are some of our other website promotion strategies. And that's not all; we maintain your website and continuously evaluate and update the content, presentation, layout and technical aspects.

Our Web Designers and programmers are adept at working in many operating environments (Windows or UNIX), server/client-side scripting languages and database management systems. Our marketing staff at San Francisco ensures that you get maximum hits from your target audience. We look at your business from your viewpoint and then get down to the task of your website development. You see this difference in our approach, when your website is ready. In all, with a highly competent and talented team of professionals, we assure you that your interaction with us will be a great experience. Not to mention, your business will certainly get a boost!

SAN FRANCISCO WEB DEVELOPMENT - TOOLS

Web development encompasses many stages i.e. Planning, Analysis, Web design, Implementation, Promotion and Innovation. Each of these stages requires use of different sets of tools and professionals with varied skill sets.

Planning and Analysis don't require as many software tools as the experience of the web master or project director. They need working knowledge with all aspects of server and database. Familiarity with Operating Systems and the Internet server applications are required. Experience with IP networks, programming languages and database development are also essential. The two most common Operating Systems used are Windows NT/2000 and Unix, although many also use Linux. Most commonly used Internet programming languages include PERL, CGI, ActiveX, ASP, and Java among others.

In the next stage of Web designing at Graphic Design Company in San Francisco, tools such as HTML Meta tags, JavaScript, CGI, Macromedia Flash, Macromedia DreamWeaver and Adobe Photoshop are used. Web templates, graphic designs, photographs, texts, clippings, audio and video are also included, as per the requirements.

Flash helps in animation that gives an identity to a website. Visual Basic is the most common language for scripting and SQL with other database engines are used for database management on the website. To create Search Engine Optimized content, tools such as Overture are used. Once the most popularly searched words in your industry are identified and short-listed, the content creators write content using these search words. This ensures that your website lists high in the search engines and directories.

In the Implementation stage, the website's Web Design at Oakland is implemented and tested on various browsers. Any functional errors, if found, are corrected. The Promotion and Innovation stages, help in marketing a website.

Pay-Per-Click Search Engine Promotion, Loyalty Programs, Email Campaigns and Online Games are some tools used for website promotion. Tools such as site statistics software and reporting from site searches let you know what exactly your visitors are looking for. The content and marketing strategies are then adjusted accordingly. A website also needs to be maintained and continuously evaluated and updated with respect to content, presentation, layout and technical aspects.

Use of good web development tools ensures that your pages have good content, Meta tags, a high link popularity score, appropriate keywords and visual appeal. Although web development tools are essential, it also takes a seasoned team of programmers, graphic designers, content creators, consultants and marketing staff to work in tandem to create a technically sound, visually appealing and highly functional website. A well-planned site, apart from being high in functionality, is also easy to re-design or alter, at a later stage.

SAN FRANCISCO WEB DESIGN COMPANY

In today's world, websites are not just the clout of major companies alone. Web Development presence has become affordable for smaller businesses, organizations and even individuals. Having a website helps build and expand business, increase sales or offer services by reaching out to the people who seek it. And contrary to what you may think, it is not enough to just have a website created and uploaded; maintenance, website promotion and marketing are equally important aspects. So, when looking for a web design company, you need to ensure that you get all these benefits to get an edge over others.

At #10, we at Web-Design.Nr10.Com Graphic Design Company in San Francisco understand that your website reflects your company's motto and image. Hence, the web design solutions we offer are in keeping with your original ideas and the image you like to project. Whatever be your industry, the web design team, at #10 is adept at designing websites that exude professionalism and character. Our design staff works with you, understanding your requirements and focusing on your needs. Logo creation, logo placement and the flow of the various pages are all designed as per your requirements. During every stage of the web designing process, we take your inputs and feedbacks. We work upon your ideas and add our expertise, to make your website stand out from the clutter.

At #10, we Oakland Graphic Design use technologically advanced and effective software tools to ensure that your website attracts target audience. Use of a combination of right HTML text, background images, and graphic images with the right and most legible typefaces and fonts make your website presentable and popular. We also create customized web banner or advertisement banner in a variety of styles. Our interactive flash banners are created aesthetically, and can be embedded within the homepage. These features add a charisma to your website, if used tastefully. We also use marketing and promotion strategies, so that your website is listed high in the search engines and directories. Our ecommerce tools, coupled with long-term maintenance and innovative solutions from time to time, gets your target audience hooked. Also since the website we create are written, coded and designed for user friendliness and search engine visibility, you can rest assured of maximum visitors to your website.

Although the attention span of a web surfer is just a few seconds, a neatly laid-out website with interesting graphics, updated facts and user-friendly navigation is sure to have visitors linger on. Trust us at #10, to design that kind of a website for you. #10 web design company offers services especially in San Francisco, San Jose and Oakland.

GRAPHIC DESIGN OAKLAND

Using trendy software and linking up some pages together is not what website designing is all about. It involves much more than that. Good websites are those, which are structured, planned, tested thoroughly and then finally uploaded for online viewers. At #10 LLC (Web-Design.nr10), websites are planned and engineered to reach out to those who can make a difference to your business. If your company needs a new website or a facelift, we can do an exemplary job for you.

Most website designers have the tendency to overdo graphics and flashy animations, in a bid to attract and retain viewers. But it has been proven that instead of attracting them, it has a reverse effect, since the riot of colors and lack of white space repels viewers. At #10 LLC (Web-Design.nr10), we give your website a tidy and polished look, with all the right information, graphics and icons. With #10 LLC, delivering graphic design in Oakland, your websites are pleasant to the eyes and viewers tend to spend more time on your site. At #10 LLC (Web-Design.nr10), you will be dealing with solid professionals whose only aim is to design a website that earn you maximum profits for your business.

#10 (an Oakland graphic design firm) lays emphasis on the modern aspects of website design, with more stress given to user interface and interaction design. A user will stay on a site if he/she can find information arranged methodically and the layout is easy to navigate. #10 (focusing on Graphic design in Oakland) ensures that your websites not only look attractive, but also are thoroughly functional and projects the right image about your company's products and services.

The Web is a very transparent medium and in a matter of minutes one can click through hundreds of websites without even realizing it. This is where the difference between a good and bad website becomes evident. Good websites have a lasting impression and persuade viewers to return again and again to seek more information about your company. Websites that employ gimmicks, on the other hand, may do the job of attracting viewers but fail in retaining their interest or arousing their curiosity. In the long run, such websites fail miserably thereby plunging your company image and business. With us, rest assured that you will stand out with superior graphic design and understated elegance. #10 LLC (Graphic design Oakland) will impart to your web pages, professional competency that can attract a worldwide clientele.

WEB DESIGNERS IN SAN JOSE

Creating your web site can be a complicated and tricky process. Choosing the best web design company for your site is of vital significance. Your web sites should serve multiple purposes, and should make business more efficient, display your professional and positive company image and offer information and tools, which measurably improve customer service.

Designing a good website requires the skills and expertise of a range of professionals. A web site must essentially be written, programmed, and designed for the end users. A site that is written, coded and designed for user friendliness and search engine visibility attracts the most traffic and results in accelerating sales. Moreover, understanding the products, services or information that your target audience is looking for is imperative in the design, maintenance and re-design of your website.

In San Jose, a number of firms can provide your business with a positive and effective online presence tailored to suit your budgetary constraints. They provide you with professional looking sites that ensure that the site has the look and feel you desire. These firms employ web designing professionals who help in creating innovative, solid brand strategies that identify your strengths, capture your core vision and push this message directly to your customer audience. Such firms provide affordable web design services and strive to make sure your web site is reflective of your business.

Web-design.nr10.com focuses on delivering design, web technology development and e-business strategy solutions. Through their innovative and creative approach to problem solving, they consistently meet and exceed our client's expectations. They have a simple goal--to create design solutions that produce real results for your company.

The success story of Web-design.nr10.com is a result of following a proven methodology, which involves examining each client's specific needs through meticulous assessment and recommending solutions based on a fact-based, hypothesis-driven approach. As such, they are able to design and deliver targeted solutions apt to clients' needs, with precision and certainty, keeping in mind each client's timeline, scope and budget concerns.

The Web is the ultimate customer-empowering environment. Your visitors decide where to go and what to see, and a dissatisfying experience means your competitors are just a click away. Finding your strength and expanding on it are the keywords to success in web designing.